

RESEARCH WORKS GIVEN LIBRARY

State Acquires Publications of Carnegie Institute—5,000
Books Past Year.

In summarizing gifts to the State Library during the year about to close, Dr. Henry W. Mellor, State Librarian, puts the accession of 156 volumes of the valuable research work of the Carnegie Institute in Washington as among the most noteworthy. No institution for investigation in America has accomplished quite as much toward the development of the sciences as the Carnegie Institute, which is supported by an endowment of $3,000,000 from the iron master.

Included in the 156 volumes presented gratuitously by the Institute are the very latest investigation into the realm of research—history, economics, mathematics, natural science, medicine and the diversified branches of the latter study. Together the set of books forms the most valuable work on original research in the possession of the State. Recent additions to the endowment fund permitted the Institute to enlarge its mailing list so as to include the Virginia State Library. In the future all publications of the Carnegie Institute will be sent here.

Since the beginning of the current year the State Library has acquired by gift or purchase 4,965 volumes. The total number of books and pamphlets now on the shelves of the library is 18,821. This total, of course, is exclusive of the priceless manuscripts in the possession of the Department of Archives and History.

Of special interest among the new books is a set of thirteen books for the blind, presented to the library by the National Society for the Blind. The books are the "Bible," "The New Testament," "The Book of Psalms," "The Book of Isaiah," "The Book of Jeremiah," "The Book of Lamentations," "The Book of Ezekiel," "The Book of Daniel," "The Book of Hosea," "The Book of Joel," "The Book of Amos," "The Book of Obadiah." The books are written in Braille and are the work of the National Society for the Blind.

Also added to the library are the "Harvard Classics," fifteen volumes, a ten-volume photographic history of the Civil War, the New Century Dictionary, in twelve volumes, and the New Schaff-Herzog Encyclopedia, also in twelve volumes.

The Working Man's Friend In Time of Sickness

I am a blacksmith by trade, and would like to say a word to all who have to work hard and suffer with their kidneys. I suffered for about ten years, and was treated by a Waynesboro, Va., doctor. He said that I had Bright's Disease, and that he had done all he could for me. I read about Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and as I could hardly do a day's work, was willing to try anything that would do me any good. After taking Swamp-Root a few days I felt so much better that I continued until I felt that I was cured and I was altogether a new man. That was eight years ago, and if I ever feel the least pain about my kidneys I just take a few doses of Swamp-Root, and in a few days I am all right. I feel to-day that I am a well man, and would say to all who suffer with their kidneys, take Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, for it has done more for me than all the doctors, and saved doctors' bills.

I can further say that about two years ago my son was sick in bed, and got worse all the time. I went in the night and got a fifty-cent bottle of Swamp-Root and told him to lay aside all the doctors' medicines and take Swamp-Root. He took six bottles, and I am glad to say that he is well to-day and has not had any trouble with his kidneys since. It was Swamp-Root that cured him. My son now thinks that there is no medicine that a doctor can give that can compare with Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

Very truly yours,
G. W. HARDING,
Covington, Va.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of March, 1912, G. W. Harding, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that same is true in substance and in fact.

Given under my hand this 8th day of March, 1912.

The groom is a retired business man, well known among a large number of Richmond men because of his large disputation. He has been out of business for a number of years, and recently has maintained his residence at 4 West Main Street.

It is understood that the wedding was marked by no special social facilities, and that no formal trip will be taken. The newly married couple will be at home to their friends at 35 North Tenth Street.

Revised Account.
A. S. Perkins, a merchant, was arrested yesterday by Motorville Officer Samuels for being drunk and disorderly. He offered resistance when taken in custody, and a charge was lodged against him at the Second Police Station.

RYAN CENSURED FOR HIS REPLIES

President of Iron Workers' Union Is Admonished by the Court.

ANSWERS IRRESPONSIVE

He Explains Comments Made as Invitation to Visit
Jerome.

Indianapolis, Ind., December 12.—For asserting that "virulent attacks" were made on him by contractors who employed nonunion workmen, Frank M. Ryan, president of the Iron Workers' International Union, was censured by the court at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial to-day, as giving "irresponsible" answers.

Ryan, the most prominent of the forty-one defendants, was asked what he meant by comments he made on an invitation he received to visit William T. Jerome, then district attorney of New York.

Ryan's comments were contained in a letter written January, 1908, to J. J. McNamara. According to the government, Ryan was in New York directing the "dynamite campaign." Ryan identified a copy of a letter he received from Jerome, saying: "I shall be glad to see you alone or with your attorney, if you prefer."

In his letter to McNamara, he said: "Another surprise. I inclose a copy of Jerome's letter, with a suggestion that if I am prevented in any way from conducting the affairs of the association, you should advise the first vice-president to take charge."

"What did you mean when you said, 'I am prevented from conducting the affairs of the association?'" asked District Attorney Miller.

"I meant just what it says," replied Ryan, who, although the district attorney objected, kept on talking.

"There had been virulent attacks published in New York and emanating from the National Erectors' Association, and a man named Donnelly had come from Albany to circulate a petition to have me impeached as president. I did not know what there was to it until I investigated Donnelly's end, and I wanted to be prepared for any emergency. That is all there is to it, except that I saw Jerome."

Objection was then made to Ryan's remarks. Federal Judge Anderson, turning to the witness, said:

"All this talk is irresponsible. This is the case of the United States government against these defendants, and not the Erectors' Association. The government is behind the prosecution."

No further inquiries were made regarding Ryan's visit to Jerome. In his previous testimony, Ryan said his visit was friendly, and he denied it had anything to do with violence in the conduct of the strike in New York.

Michael J. Hannon, Scranton, Pa., testified that "trimming" nonunion iron workers meant "beating them up."

"Why was it you thought that those open shop contractors had no right to do their work the way they wanted?" the witness was asked.

"Because they employed men outside of the union. We wanted to bring the nonunion men into the union."

"How did you want to bring them, on a stretcher?"

"No, in a kindly way."

Paul J. Morris, St. Louis, another defendant, testified concerning his activity as a business agent of a local union. He said he had not been in accord with the administration of the union and attempted to appoint trustees for managing the finances of the International Union. He denied knowing of the use of dynamite.

MAN FOUND DEAD IN HIS BARNYARD

David King May Have Been the Victim of Religious Impulse.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Bristol, Va., December 12.—News brought here to-night from Foyles Ferry, Carroll County, of the murder of David King, a farmer forty-five years of age, reveals a peculiar state of affairs, indicating that King, whose body was found in his barnyard with skull crushed, may have been the victim of religious impulse. The murdered man, it is said, was outspoken in his opposition to the "Holy Rollers," who were conducting a series of meetings in the community. His wife had been attending, and he entered his protest. Finally, as the story is related, somebody in one of the meetings prayed for the divine removal of King. It was not long after this that he was killed. The coroner's jury was unable to place the blame for his death.

erected and maintained outside of the city just as the property owner desired, regardless of the public good.

Control Belt Line Railroad.
The county had no power to control the Belt Line Railroad, and he urged the city to assume jurisdiction by annexation. James B. and John W. McCook, representing Battery Court and other sections, spoke briefly on the desirability of annexation. There was no delegation present from Barton Heights. Others who would have been heard deferred their detailed remarks until the special committee is ready to go into the matter along comprehensive lines.

Court of Appeals.
The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reconvened yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock, with Circuit Judges Goff and Pritchard and District Judges Waddill and Rize in attendance. The following case was argued:

No. 117—Grain Distillery No. 8, of the Eastern Distillery Company, plaintiff in error, vs. United States, defendant in error. In error to the District Court at Norfolk, Va. Cause argued by Thomas H. Wilcox, of Norfolk, Va., for the plaintiff in error, and by D. Lawrence Grover, United States attorney, of Norfolk, Va., for the defendant in error, and submitted.

Cause in call to-day No. 1123—Clarence B. Wood, John M. Rhea and Luther W. Williams, plaintiffs in error, vs. United States, defendant in error. In error to the District Court at Richmond, Va. To be argued by George A. Hanson and L. O. Wendenburg, of Richmond, Va., for the plaintiffs in error, and by Robert H. Talley, assistant United States attorney, of Richmond, Va., for the defendant in error.

The best of all "Breakfast Foods" is Light BREAD

Light bread is higher in nutritive material than any of the so-called "breakfast foods" and it is much cheaper.

Besides—bread may be served in just as many tempting ways.

Nothing is better or easier to digest than milk and light bread—or bread toasted to a golden brown and spread with butter—or bread fried in egg batter.

In fact, there's nothing that can take the place of bread at any meal—and there are many things that bread can well take the place of. More light bread and less of other things will increase the family's health and decrease living expense.

Of course, you should be careful to get the best bread—bread that is light, fine-grained, thoroughly digestible—bread raised with Fleischmann's Yeast. Ask your baker:

"Do You Use FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST?"

small thought to comfort. He dressed in the Tyrolean highlander costume, with bare legs and a feathered green hat on his head. After a long day in the open, during which his hunger was relieved occasionally by a sandwich and a glass of beer, he would turn in at night to a rough wooden hut and sleep on a camp bed, routing out the company early the next morning to continue the sport.

Even when he was in his steeple, he rarely allowed himself the luxury of a hunting cart or a pony. During these excursions he always gave up his Sundays to religious observance, holding mass in the open air amid the forest pines, with great companies of peasants as his fellow-worshippers.

As a sovereign, Luitpold did much to increase the prestige and prosperity of Bavaria. The total income, which he voted to paying national debts, and when urged later to take the crown and title declined he was "too old to change."
